

PRESS RELEASE

NATIONAL PLOUGHING CONTEST

The Agricultural Society of Kenya is an independent national institution with the central objective of promoting agriculture in the country through agricultural shows and trade exhibitions in the different parts of the country.

The Society wishes to invite you to the annual National Ploughing Contest which will be held in ABMA farm, Njoro- Nakuru County from February 10 to 11, 2017. The winner will represent Kenya in the World Ploughing Contest.

The contest is an event that has participants from different ASK Branch Regions in the country. This year the event has attracted 14 participants who will compete to clinch the National trophy.

The National Ploughing Contest takes pride in being a great platform where farmers get a chance to learn new cutting edge ploughing techniques, farming machinery and other agricultural products and services.

In line with the theme for this year of; Promoting Innovation and Technology in Agriculture and Trade, the contest will showcase new technologies and developments in the sector and chart a way forward in modernization of ploughing, ploughing machinery and other sector products.

The National Ploughing Contest will also serve as preparation ground for the prestigious World Ploughing Contest which will be hosted in Kenya later this year at Ngongongeri Farm, Egerton University from November 24 to December 3, 2017.

The Agricultural Society of Kenya encourages farmers, National organizations, NGO 's, Private Sector and all other stakeholders in the agricultural ecosystem in the country to purpose to attend the contest.

For further information, contact

Juliet Wamiri, Marketing and Publicity Manager/ KPO National Secretary,

Agricultural Society of Kenya

Email: prm@ask.co.ke

Tel: +254 722 621 558, +254 738 345 333, +254 704 583 850

P.O. Box 32622,00100,

Nairobi, Kenya